

URBAN intelligence

Inspired by Channel 4's "One Man Walking", a street dance film about London, Carole Edrich traversed the capital to meet its urban dance movers and shakers

Cindy Claes (right) develops choreography for Voices in the Alley

Earlier this year "One Man Walking", a dance film created for Channel 4's Street Summer season, explored the challenges of life in London, using krump, hip hop and free running. Written and co-devised by Jonzi D, the founder of Breakin' Convention at Sadler's Wells, the film involved some of the UK's leading street dance talent, featuring dancer-choreographer Kenrick "H2O" Sandy and composer Michael "Mikey J" Asante, directors of

Photograph © Carole Edrich